JOHN TRIBBEY WAS ACQUITTED

After Remaining Out All Night, Jury
Arrived at Verdict Early
This Morning.

MANY BALLOTS WERE TAKEN

Lawyers Were Spicy in Argument and Paid Their Respects to Their Opponents.

John Tribbey, who has been on trial in the Fayette circuit court on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill his brother-in-law, Henry Conoway, was acquitted by a jury that returned a verdict this morning. The jury retired yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock after being instructed by Judge Gray and remained out all night, arriving at a verdict at 7 o'clock this morning.

The argument began Friday morning at eight o'clock. Each side was given two hours to plead their case. Mr. McKee and Judge Morris divided the time of the defense and Mr. Springer and Mr. Martin, for the State, divided their time. Mr. Tittsworth, counsel for the State, did not speak.

There was a big crowd in the court room to hear the arguments, many of the witnesses and other Rush county parties interested in the case returning today for the purpose of listening to this feature of the case. The arguments for the most part were spicy.

Once when Mr. Morris was speaking he referred to the evidence of some of the witnesses who had testified that Conoway had said that he had nothing to do with the whitecapping, but that he wished that he had. As Mr. Morris spoke he turned around and looked at Conoway, saying:

"The very appearance of the man at this minute indicates that he said that very thing and that he does wish right now that he had been in the whitecapping."

As the lawyer spoke Conoway was nodding his head and Morris called the jury's attention to him.

"He is testifying right now, gentlemen, that he said that he wished he had been in the whitecapping and he does wish he had been."

Mr. McKee, while addressing the jury, referred to Conoway once as "one of the meanest devils that ever lived."

Mr. Martin made the closing argument for the State and his effort was regarded as one of the best pleas ever made by a young attorney in the Fayette court.

It was about 12:20 o'clock by the time the court had charged the jury. The men went to dinner and immediately after retired to the jury room to consider the case.

There are many guesses as to what the jury will do. Some think Tribbey may be found guilty of assault and battery and fined, leaving out the "intent" part of the charge. Not many think he will be found guilty of intent to murder, in which event he would be sent to prison for from two to fourteen years. A great many think he will be acquitted while others rather expect the jury to disagree.

At five o'clock the jury was still out.

HE HEARD BILLY SUNDAY

Will Alexander Witnessed an Impressive Scene at Big Revival.

Will Alexander and Austin Frazee were in Chicago this week and bought a car load of Pole Angus cattle which they will graze on their farms. Mr. Alexander was also at Bowling Green, Mo. and Springfield, Ill., and at the latter place heard Rev. Billy Sunday preach in a tent, where over 8000 were jammed, and 2000 outside unable to gain admittance.

SCHOLL WAS ONE OF THE PROMOTERS

Central Indiana Superintendents of City Schools Have Formed a Permanent Club.

FIRST MEETING IN FRANKFORT

The city superintendents of schools of Central Indiana met yesterday and organized a permanent organization known as the Central Indiana Club of City Schools Superintendents. Prof. J. H. Scholl of this city was one of the promoters of the club. The object of the club is to affiliate with the Northern and Southern clubs in State work. The club will have its first meeting at Frankfort next March. Heretofore, the officials either belonged to the Northern or Southern Association.

WILL NOT AFFECT THE LOCAL COURTS

Law Recently Enacted Was Already Being Carried Out in the City Courts.

COMPLETE RECORDS ARE KEPT

A new law enacted at the last legislative session provides that the records of police courts and justice of the peace courts shall be kept as complete as circuit court records.

The bill, the provisions of which formed a part of the merchant's legislative platform, requires that every justice of the peace, city judge or mayor, acting as city judge shall keep a public docket in which shall be entered all the cases tried before such officer, together with fines and costs taxed, and whether such fines and costs are paid or stayed, and it provides further that such docket shall be open to the public.

This bill grew out of many evils in the class of courts which it affects. With such a law as this, if penalties are not collected from saloon keepers, gamblers or others who frequently are favored by these courts, the public will have ample opportunity to find out whether the fees in such courts are assessed fairly and for the benefit of the taxpayers, or for the personal benefit of the constable or some other official.

Rushville court-shops will not be effected, so far as present officials are concerned, by this remedial legislation. The dockets for months have been correctly kept and are open daily for inspection.

A LOOK AT JUNE IN MARCH TIME

Can be Found in a Visit to the Various Millinery Stores of This City.

SWELL CREATIONS GALORE

Season is One of Wide Varieties, With Colors of White, Black and Apricot.

To encounter a bit of June in March a visit to the various millinery establishments in Rushville is recommended. In spacious glass cases around the walls the woman who would trim her own hat or select material for that purpose can find the very thing she seeks. There is a case filled with beautiful plumes of many kinds. Another holds flowers, which are to be used extensively this spring, and another case contains a fine showing of ribbons. To see the varied shapes and grades of hats on display is a pleasure that no woman who cares for style and fashion should miss. There are dainty leghorn hats under a profusion of flowers. There are smart director hats, one particularly attractive with a dainty bird of paradise adornment. There are natty small hats made just for street wear. There are hats for weddings and hats to be worn with every day dress; big hats and little hats and all that between them lies. The season is to be one of variety, and so woman may have a hat to her fancy. As to color, while black, white and apricot are the most quite good, Rushville milliners are showing their modish models in a wide variety of shades.

WILL EXTEND WATER MAINS

City Council Men in Extra Session Last Night.

The city council met in extra session last night and the "main" business transacted was the matter of extension of water mains. The mains were ordered extended north on Arthur street, from Fifth to Ninth streets, and north on Harrison street from Ninth to Tenth street. The work will begin about April 1.

FLEECED BY SHARKS.

William Ryan, a Rush county farmer, reported to the police of Greensburg that he was fleeced out of $40 by sharks in a poker game there this week. Arrests followed.

WIFE STILL MISSING.

Ora Clevenger, who is in search of his wife here, has been unable to locate her, but has found several clues to her possible whereabouts.

TALKS ON SHAKESPEARE.

Dr. V. W. Tevis will give the third of a series of sermon-lectures on Shakespeare Sunday night. Large crowds are attending these lectures, especially among the literary folks of Rushville.

FELLOW INSANE OVER RELIGION

Gwynneville Man Created a Disturbance at Brazil and Was Placed Under Arrest.

FOUND HERE LAST SPRING

Says he Has Been Dead Over a Million Years and Gives out Other "Dippy" Talk.

Brazil, Ind., March 19.—An insane man was unloaded on the police in a mysterious manner last night. A man drove up in front of police headquarters and unloaded the insane man and then drove off without giving any information or leaving his name or address.

The insane man is a religious fanatic and unable to talk rational. He told the police that he had been dead for a million years and he was on his way to heaven.

It is evident that the crazy man has recently been an inmate of an insane asylum as he was provided with clean clothing and each garment bore the name "William Robinson" which is supposed to be the name of the crazy man. Nothing was found in his pockets except a scrap of paper which bore the address, W. H. Robinson, Gwynneville, Indiana. There also appeared on the scrap of paper the word "Shelby" followed by a "v" as if an effort had been made to write Shelbyville.

Dr. Williams was called to police headquarters and on examining the insane man recommended that he be kept at the Mission Home until his identity could be learned and his relatives or the officer of the asylum from which he has probably escaped communicated with.

Inquiry was made at Gwynneville and Morristown concerning the fellow, but nothing could be learned. A few days ago, however, a peculiarly acting fellow frightened the women of the neighborhood and was finally arrested and taken to Morristown. He was demented and after holding him for a few days and making efforts to establish his identity he was freed. It is thought that Robinson is the same fellow found in Rushville last spring. He talked that million "business" here and was arrested.

TAX DODGERS MUST STAND UP AND PAY

New Statute Says Prosecutor "Must" (Not "May") Proceed Against Those Refusing to Pay.

TREASURER RECEIVES A FEE

One of the last laws passed by the Legislature is of especial interest to tax dodgers, scores of whom afflict this county. It is provided by the law referred to that the treasurer shall receive a fee of 50 cents for every delinquent he brings to book and it further provides that the Prosecuting Attorney must proceed against those persons who refuse to disgorge delinquent taxes upon demand. The law no longer says "may" it says "must."

LADIES GLEE CLUB MADE PERMANENT

Organized and Elected Officers on Thursday Night—Have Secured Several Engagements.

DIRECTION OF PROF. CRAIG

The ladies glee club met at the home of Miss Hazel Cox in North Morgan street Thursday and effected a permanent organization. The club is composed of eight members and will be under the direction and management of Prof. T. A. Craig. The young ladies have scored a triumph, wherever they have been heard. The organization will be permanent and several engagements have been made. They will sing at the Men's Big Meeting Sunday afternoon. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Jesse Pugh, president, Georgia Wyatt, secretary and Ruby Norris, treasurer. The club is composed of the following members: Nancy Hogsett, Marie Clark, Hazel Cox, Ruby Norris, Martha Marr Hogsett, Edith Holden, Mrs. Jesse Pugh and Georgia Wyatt. Four new members will be voted into the club soon, making a total of twelve voices.

BOOZER LIST IS BEING COMPILED

Richmond Saloon Keepers Take the Initiative in a Most Commendable Move.

ARE IMITATING MAYOR COWING

Black List Prepared of All "Hoisters" in the Quaker City of the Moist.

Richmond saloon keepers, who it has been said, open their places with prayer and sell only communion wine have taken a new and radical step toward reform—new for men on that side of the bar, though the blacklisting of boozers was introduced in this city several years ago by Mayor Cowing. The Richmond Palladium tells this interesting story:

"In order to protect its members and their business, the saloon keepers' association has prepared a blacklist. The names on this list are of men who are known as 'booze fighters,' degenerates of men whose families are known to suffer because of the fact that money that ought to be spent for provisions and other necessities is spent for liquor. Among the names on the list are those of Earl Huntington, Frank Murray, colored, and John Donlin. All three of these men have a long jail record and their original downfall is attributed to drink.

"On the list, which now contains about twenty names are those of a few men who are employed as delivery men. These men visit all parts of the city and are known to spend nearly all they make for drink. They are in a semi-intoxicated condition the most of the time. The saloonist believe they are helping the public by refusing to sell to this class of men and at the same time are doing the right thing by their business. Each saloonist has been supplied with a copy of the list and under no consideration is a sale to be made to anyone above named."

BY THE WAYSIDE

Of course we have a girlless and automatic telephone system here, still, as a grim reminder of former days the following thoughts in verse from a Kansas newspaper, are interesting as well as entertaining.

"The telephone girl sits still in her chair and listens to voices from everywhere. She hears all the gossip, she hears all the news, she knows who is happy and who has the blues; she knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys, she knows every girl who is chasing the boys; she knows of our troubles, she knows of our strife, she knows every man who is mean to his wife; she knows every time we are out with the boys, she hears the excuses each fellow employs; she knows every woman who has a dark past, she knows every man who's inclined to be fast; in fact there's a secret 'neath each saucy curl of that quiet, demure looking telephone girl. If the telephone girl would tell all that she knows it would turn half our friends into bitterest foes; she would soon be a gale, engulf us in trouble and land us in jail; she would let go a story (which gaining in force) would cause half our wives to sue for divorce; she could get all the churches mixed up in a fight and turn all our days into sorrowing nights; in fact, she could keep the whole town in a stew if she'd tell the tenth part of the things she knew. Now doesn't it make your head whirl when you think what you owe the telephone girl?"

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, March 20.—That the scarcity of Republican candidates for the nomination for mayor here is due largely to the party's attitude on the county local option issue, is the opinion expressed by many of the leading politicians, who say there can be no other explanation. The office of mayor has been very attractive in Indianapolis and Republicans have tumbled over each other heretofore in trying to land the place. Nothing was said about the lack of good timber for the job until Captain Harry S. New and former Attorney General William L. Taylor announced that under no conditions would they have the place. The Republicans are face to face with an odd condition here. The city is Republican normally by about 4,000, although the Democrats succeeded in electing T. Taggart mayor three times and John W. Holtzman once. Taggart's victories were due very largely to his great personal popularity and a bad split in the Republican party helped Holtzman. In the last municipal campaign Mayor Bookwalter won by nearly 2,000, in spite of fierce opposition within his own party. It is known that two or three well-known Republican attorneys had their sails set several months ago for the mayor's office, but that they were waiting to see what the legislature did with the county local option repeal bills. These prospective candidates have taken cover, and one of them explains that he does not like to make the race at the head of the Republican ticket because he fears that the temperance question will "cut ice." If the local option law had been modified so the county would not have been the election unit, he says that the Republicans would have regained lost ground here.

A tabulation of vital statistics made at the office of the state board of health shows that during the month of February tonsillitis was the most prevalent disease in Indiana. In a report issued yesterday Secretary Hurty of the state board of health says: "A sum-up of the whole situation shows a better condition of health in February than in the same month last year and a lower death rate." There were 2,955 deaths in February of this year. In the corresponding month last year 3,396 died. The deaths from consumption in February numbered 358. Pneumonia killed 423 people. During February 130 cases of smallpox were reported, but there were no deaths from the disease.

Representative Crumpacker of Indiana is having a speakership boom. It is not large or flourishing as yet, but it may grow. He got one vote for speaker in the Republican caucus the other night and he has that as a nest egg. There was a time when Crumpacker was the most uncompromising insurgent in the house, but he has become tame and docile and is now on very good terms with the Cannon organization, which undoubtedly will have something to say as to who shall succeed Uncle Joe.

CHESS BY CABLE

International Long-Distance Games Begun Today.

Princeton, N. J., March 20.—Play was begun here today in the international cable chess match between students of American universities and the students representing the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge. The American colleges represented are Columbia, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Harvard.

There are six players on each side. The prize is the Isaac L. Rice trophy, now held in this country. It was won by the American students last year by the score of 3½ to 2½.

Convict Shoots Police Chief.

Elkins, W. Va., March 20.—Scott White, chief of police of Whitmer, near here, was shot and probably fatally wounded by Joe Brown, an escaped convict, while remonstrating with the latter about his offensive conduct. Brown was pursued by a posse, but offered resistance when surrounded and in a battle which followed was badly wounded.

The Chicago wheat market continues to be a very choppy affair, sentiment changing from firmness to weakness, and vice versa, on a comparatively small volume of trade.

The naval scare in England has been revived by rumors that the British government is considering the purchase of three warships of the Dreadnought type now being built in England for Brazil.

Luman C. Mann, charged with the murder of Mrs. Francis Gilmer Thompson at Chicago last June, was acquitted. The evidence against Mann was circumstantial; his defense an alibi. The jury took but one ballot.

EACH WILL FIGHT FOR HIS HOME DISTRICT

Congressmen Believe Tariff Is A Local Issue.

Washington, March 19.—That party lines will be eliminated during the consideration in the house of the Payne tariff bill was indicated by the action of Representative Broussard of Louisiana, in withdrawing from the meeting of the members of the committee. He differed with their views on the tariff.

With few exceptions, each member of the house will fight for the interests of his home district. There is little prospect of any lengthy general debate on the bill, and the consideration of the measure under the five-minute rule for amendment will be proceeded with as soon as possible, probably by the end of the present week.

Unless a "gag" rule for the prevention of unlimited amendment under the five-minute rule is brought in, the minority members of the ways and means committee will not report a separate bill. Their report will be drafted by Minority Leader Clark, and will severely criticize the wool schedule in the new bill. It is contended by the Democrats that it has not been cut sufficiently to place it on a revenue basis. There probably will be numerous amendments offered and heated discussions affecting them are anticipated.

The inheritance tax, Philippine free trade, internal revenue and maximum and minimum features of the new bill are endorsed by the minority leaders, and there has been much favorable comment upon the measure by Democratic congressmen.

YOUNG MEN WANTED

United States Government Gives Railway Mail Clerks $800 a Year to Sart, and Increases to $1200.

Uncle Sam will hold an examination for Railway Mail Clerks in the vicinity of Rushville and throughout the United States on May 15. Many ambitious young men, with only a very ordinary school education, can readily pass. The government wants young men over 18 with common sense, to take examinations for railway mail clerks and carriers, and the Government Positions Bureau of Rochester, N. Y., with its peculiar knowledge of the requirements of the examination, can fit any young man in a very short time. A government position means steady work, good pay, and a yearly vacation. There is time to prepare for the May 15 examinations, and any reader of the Daily Republican can get full information how to proceed, free of charge, by writing The Government Positions Bureau 669, Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Paul Nelson Kassen.

Paul Nelson Kassen, son of Samuel and Elberta Kassen, was born August 10th, 1908, and died March 9th, 1909, aged 6 months and 29 days. He leaves a father, mother, one sister, two grandfathers, two grandmothers, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. But our loss is his eternal gain. It is hard to part with one so dear to us, but we mourn not as those who have no hope, for we know where little Paul has gone.

To the broken-hearted parents we say, look unto Him who healeth the broken-hearted, and bindeth up their wounds. May they be able to say, "The Lord hath given away, Blessed be the name of the Lord."

One more flower has drooped and faded,

One more treasured voice has fled;

One more fair brow the grave will shadow,

One more darling child is dead.

Oh! Those ice-cold fingers;
How they point our memories back,
To the hasty words and actions,
Strewed along our backward track.

How those little hands remind us
As in snowy grace they lie,
To scatter seeds of kindness,
For our reaping bye and bye.

BOTH SIDES ARE NOW LINING UP

Members of Congress Preparing to Submit Amendments.

MAIN CONTENTION ON LUMBER

Southern Representatives in Favor of Retaining Present Duty and Will Have Support of the Northwest and Pacific Coast States—General Disposition to Eliminate Academic Discussion and Get Down to the Actual Work of Amendments.

Washington, March 20.—There is a general disposition in the house to eliminate as far as possible any academic discussion of the tariff. Members of both sides are desirous of having as little general debate as possible and as much time as is practicable for the consideration of the bill under the five-minute rule for amendment. When the Dingley bill was before congress less than a week was devoted in the house to the discussion of the bill under the five-minute rule, and while it is likely that a rule will be brought in to limit the time for considering amendments, it is believed that sufficient time will be allowed for the consideration of the whole bill under the five-minute rule.

Members on both sides are lining up and preparing to submit amendments to the sections of the bill in which their constituents are interested. The main contention is to be over the cut made in the duty on lumber. It is understood that the southern representatives are almost unanimously in favor of retaining the present duty of $2 per 1,000 feet. They will have the support of many members from the northwest and Pacific coast states.

Hides and leather manufacturers also will be the subject of considerable debate. An earnest effort will be made by the Democrats to have shoes and other leather products reduced at least 5 or 10 per cent and to have hides retained on the free list. On boots and shoes, according to the new tariff, will be levied a duty of 15 per cent ad valorem. While this is a reduction of 10 per cent ad valorem, it is contended by those who favor further reductions that the shoe men themselves have admitted they could stand a reduction of 5 or 10 per cent more if hides were admitted free. The representatives of western states will make an earnest effort to have a duty of 15 per cent again placed on hides.

CONSERVATISM RULES

Several Quieting Factors Enter Into the Trade Situation.

New York, March 20.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: The introduction of the new tariff bill in congress and the advance of the spring jobbing season toward its close have made for a rather quieter tone in trade this week. A fair business is doing in nearly all lines, and the turnover is in excess of a year ago at this date, but conservatism rules. Spring jobbing activity has passed its zenith, buying is only to cover immediate necessities, the results of Easter trade at retail are awaited with interest, collections are only fair, and the volume of business done this spring so far is, in some respects, disappointing.

WOMEN MAY BREAK STRIKE

Many Female Employees of French Posts Returning to Work.

Paris, March 20.—The improvement in the strike situation today, due to the partial distribution of mail and the opening of some lines of foreign communication, is more apparent than real. The number of state employees on strike in Paris is greater and the tie-up in the provinces is constantly extending. The women, however, are showing signs of hesitation. Their livelihood is at stake, and, fearing dismissal from their positions, many of them are quietly returning to work. The leaders declare that if the strike fails it will be due to the refusal of the women to stand firm.

Triple Tragedy in Pennsylvania.

Oil City, Pa., March 20.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Briggs, with bullet holes in their breasts, were found at their home ten miles east of Tionesta. The body of Amos Walton, a neighbor, was found in the house with his head almost blown off. It is believed Walton killed Briggs and his wife and then committed suicide. There had been ill feeling between the two neighbors.

Police Court Bills Vetoed.

Columbus, O., March 20.—On grounds of economy, Governor Harmon has vetoed the bill passed by the general assembly at its recent session, establishing police courts at Lorain, Akron, Newark, Hamilton, Mansfield, Portsmouth and Norwood.

Plots Against the Ameer.

Peshawur, British India, March 20.—The ameer of Afghanistan has ordered numerous arrests at Kabul and Jelalabad, on the discovery of a plot to murder himself, the heir apparent and the other members of his family.

HELD JURY TO IT

Judge Hart Would Not Accept Word of Disagreement.

Nashville, Tenn., March 20.—When the jury returned a verdict of acquittal for John D. Sharp, charged with the murder of former United States Senator E. W. Carmack, and declared it was "hopelessly tied up as to the Coopers," it was generally conceded that the end of the famous case had been reached. Nothing daunted by the expressive firmness of Foreman Burke's declaration of a disagreement, Judge Hart sent the twelve men out for further deliberation and announced that he would not discharge them until he was absolutely convinced that an agreement could not be reached.

CITY'S WATER SUPPLY SWEEPS DOWN HILL

Bursting of Tanks at Parkersburg Creates Havoc.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 20.—Two persons were killed, three others probably fatally injured, and many more slightly hurt, and ten or more houses completely wrecked and forty more badly damaged when the two large water tanks supplying this city with water burst and the flood swept down Prospect hill. The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Waggle. The bodies were found in the ruins of their home. The two tanks contained the entire city supply of water and a famine is now imminent. The damage will amount to between $200,000 and $250,000. The bursting of the tanks is believed to have been caused by one tank toppling over on the other.

ETLEY ACQUITTED

Charge of Wife Murder Not Sustained On Second Trial.

Louisville, Ky., March 20.—After short deliberation a jury freed from a charge of wife murder John Etley. He had in a previous trial been convicted and sentenced to a life term. The court of appeals granted a rehearing and the case was entrusted to Norton Goldsmith, an attorney, who is national president of the B'Nai B'Rith. He was successful.

The murder which occurred in November, 1906, was the most brutal and mystifying in local police annals. Etley's fifteen-year-old daughter swore that she saw her father commit the murder.

IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Helena Modjeska Dying of Heart Trouble at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 20.—The condition of Mme. Helena Modjeska, the famous tragedienne, is considered critical and little hope is held out for her recovery. The heart trouble has grown worse and constitutes the most dangerous feature of her condition.

Yale's Greeting to Taft.

New York, March 20.—With songs of the football field and the boat race course, with a deafening cheer and a rousing chorus of "Here's to Good Old Yale, Drink Her Down," President Taft was greeted last night as the first Yale president of the United States, by more than 1,500 graduates of the famous old New Haven university. The dinner, one of the largest ever given in New York, was served at the Waldorf Astoria. Upon its conclusion Mr. Taft returned to Washington.

Foiled the Highwaymen.

Chicago, March 20.—After being held up and robbed of his watch and money on a lonely Southside street last night, William Paul informed the robbers that he, too, was a hold-up man and that he was waiting for a victim. The robbers offered Paul his money back and he asked them to walk along with him. The trio walked until they came to a policeman. Then Paul unmasked and helped the officer capture the robbers.

Stage Gun Was Loaded.

Mt. Vernon, Ill., March 20.—John Moake, the villain in an amateur performance given by the pupils of the Grand Center school, south of here, was shot in the forehead and dangerously wounded by the hero, Roy Slater. The cartridge, which was thought to have been a blank, was prepared by Moake, who cut the bullet off close to the rim of the shell. The bullet is lodged in the nasal bone.

President's Secretary Objected.

Stamford, Conn., March 20.—Charged with sending an objectionable letter to F. W. Carpenter, secretary to President Taft, John C. Harvey was arrested at the instigation of the postal authorities and examined by a commission of physicians as to his sanity. Harvey maintains that he is the victim of a conspiracy.

Vegetarians Get Encouragement.

Washington, March 20.—"If you have a strong appetite for alcohol and tobacco and want to be cured of the habit, just eat a vegetable diet for six months." This was the advice given by Dr. D. H. Kress of this city in an address before the American Society for the Study of Alcohol and Other Drug Narcotics.

IT THREATENED INSTANT DEATH

Kidnappers Hold Boy's Life as Club Over Parents.

"WE HAVE BRAINS TO HELP US"

This Is the Word Sent to Parents of Willie Whittle in Defiant Message Demanding Ransom for Kidnapped Boy—Rumor of Two Men and a Boy Answering Willie's Description Having Been Seen at Cleveland, Centers Search at That Point.

Sharon, Pa., March 20.—Frank H. Buhl, the millionaire uncle of William Whittle, the eight-year-old son of Attorney James P. Whittle of this city, who was kidnapped from school and taken away by his abductor or abductors in a buggy, has gone to Cleveland. It has been reported from that city that two men and a boy answering the description of the kidnappers and their victims have been seen there, consequently the supposition is that Mr. Buhl has received word which makes him believe his nephew is in Cleveland or that vicinity.

Mr. Whittle, the father of the missing boy, and his close friends and assistants in the kidnapping investigation refuse to give out for publicity the letter received from the kidnappers. It is said, however, that the letter contained some striking sentences in addition to those made public. One alleged remark is "our perceptibilities are as keen as yours and we have brains to help us." It threatened instant death to the boy should the letter be made public or shown to detectives, according to reports here.

The abductors of the boy were evidently well acquainted with him and his family. In addition to the two men it is rumored here that a woman is implicated in the case.

A squad of state constabulary has reached here to assist in the search for the boy. Mr. Whittle is not pushing matters vigorously, his great wish being to get his boy back. He is hoping that the parties having the boy in custody will at once open negotiations for his speedy return.

False Clue at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., March 20.—A man said to answer the description of one of the kidnappers of Willie Whittle was arrested here last night. It was reported that he had divulged the whereabouts of the boy, and detectives in an automobile went to the place designated, but presently returned and reported that they had been unable to find the boy at the address given.

ASSISTANTS NAMED

New Secretary of the Treasury Appoints Norton and Hilles.

Washington, March 20.—The secretary of the treasury has announced the appointment of Charles Dyer Norton of Chicago as assistant secretary of the treasury, to succeed Louis A. Coolidge, resigned.

Charles Dewey Hilles of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., has been appointed assistant secretary of the treasury succeeding Beekman Winthrop. Mr. Winthrop resigned some weeks ago to accept the assistant secretaryship of the navy. Mr. Norton will have direct charge under Secretary MacVeagh of the financial bureaus of the treasury. He is expected to take charge of his new office within a few days.

ARCTIC CLUB TO RESCUE

Expedition Planned to Go to Relief of Dr. Cook.

New York, March 20.—Plans for a rescue expedition to go to the relief of Dr. F. A. Cook, the Polar explorer, who is believed to be still alive in the Arctic regions, have been outlined by Captain Osborn of the Arctic club. Contributions for this purpose were asked for some time ago and have been coming in since that time in encouraging numbers, he said.

The committee has in contemplation the purchase of a small schooner-rigged vessel to carry a rescue party of four or five persons, who will sail during the early summer under the American flag.

Asphalt Company Resumes Work.

Port of Spain, March 20.—The difficulties between the Venezuelan government and the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company having been settled, the yacht Viking has left La Guaira for Guanaco with the company's representatives and lawyers aboard. They will immediately take legal possession of the territory in accordance with the settlement and have work commenced again in the asphalt beds.

May Find a Way Out of It.

Washington, March 20.—Suggestions of a conference of Central American presidents with the idea of removing all possible causes for intervention by the United States and Mexico, is the subject of gossip at the state department and in the Central American colony.

SUBJECT OF AVIATION AROUSES LONDONERS

International Aeroplane Exhibition Begins Today.

London, March 20.—Proof of the awakening interest of Great Britain in the subject of aviation is seen in the international aeroplane exhibition, the first ever held, which began at the Olympia today. The show, which contains models of the leading French and British flying machines, will remain open nine days.

The best French machines as well as the few built in this country are on exhibition at the show. The Aero Club of Great Britain shows models employing the latest flying machines.

Orville and Wilbur Wright, the famous American aeronauts, are expected to attend the exhibition. They are to visit England in response to an invitation of the Aeronautical Society of Great Britain, which will present the brothers each with the gold medal of the society. The Aeronautical society has erected sheds for their experiments at Dagenham Essex.

TO SAVE BABIES

This Is the Object of Meeting of New York Doctors Tonight.

New York, March 20.—At a meeting of some of the leading physicians of this city to be held tonight plans will be made to enlist the services of the medical profession in the war being waged on infant mortality.

The doctors will confer on plans of management for the new Infant Science academy of New York. The aim of the academy is supervision of all infants from the time of birth and systematic instruction of mothers, in their proper care. The academy aims at reaching all mothers, rich or poor. Many of the doctors who devote their time exclusively to the study and treatment of children's diseases are co-operating in the movement.

To Have Earlier Commencement.

New Haven, Conn., March 20.—A change in the date of the Yale commencement day was the most important business transacted at the meeting of the Yale corporation here, which was attended by President Taft, a member of the corporation. Commencement day, which is held on the last Wednesday of June, has been changed to come on the next to the last Wednesday of that month.

Returning Petrosino's Body.

Palermo, March 20.—Draped with the Stars and Stripes and covered with flowers, the coffin containing the body of Joseph Petrosino, head of the Italian branch of the New York city detective service, was placed on board the Cunard line steamer Slavonia last evening for conveyance to New York.

Grand Jury Makes Report.

Pittsburg, March 20.—The grand jury which has been investigating the charges of alleged corruption in the municipal affairs of this city, returned their findings to Judge Davis late yesterday afternoon. The court took the report under advisement and ordered the jury to appear Monday morning.

Former Freight Agent Convicted.

Fairmount, W. Va., March 20.—Edward Hinkle, former freight agent here of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad charged with stealing a piano from the railroad was found guilty by a jury, which had deliberated for eighteen hours.

Burned to Death in Home.

Nashville, Ind., March 20.—William St. Clair, sixty years old, and a prominent farmer of Van Buren township, was burned to death when his house caught fire.

Mistrial Seems Likely.

Nashville, Tenn., March 19.—There is still no intimation of an agreement from the room in which twelve men are trying to decide the fate of Colonel D. B. and Robin Cooper and John D. Sharp for the murder of former United States Senator E. W. Carmack, and the feeling is growing that there will be a disagreement.

Used Oil in Starting Fire.

Portland, Ind., March 19.—The home of W. H. Klinger, a well-known oil operator, was wrecked by an explosion following an attempt to start a fire with crude oil. Mrs. Klinger was badly burned when her clothing ignited.

Book of Discipline For Roosevelt.

One of the parting gifts to former President Roosevelt was a handsome bound copy of the "Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church," a present from the general conference of the northern wing, done on vellum paper in soft, hand tooled leather and inclosed in a case of morocco and velvet. This is a special compliment, as Mr. Roosevelt is not a Methodist, but a member of the Dutch Reformed church.

Rink in a Church Basement.

The Rev. Hiram B. Harrison, pastor of the First Congregational church of Hastings, Neb., created a flurry the other day when he announced in his sermon that it was his intention to have a roller skating rink established in the basement of a proposed new church building. The projected structure's total cost will be $20,000.

CHANGED PLEA TO NOT GUILTY

Terre Haute Woman Acts On Advice of Attorneys.

KIDNAPPING OF ADA GLASCO

Mrs. Clara Gordon, Who Had Previously Pleaded Guilty to Kidnapping Her Niece in Order to Prevent Child From Testifying in Glasco Murder Case, Decides to Stand Trial—Insists She Had Been Advised by Lawyer to Kidnap Child.

Anderson, Ind., March 20.—Mrs. Clara Gordon of Terre Haute, charged with kidnapping Ada Glasco last October, has changed her plea to not guilty in circuit court. Previously she had pleaded guilty. Her attorneys believed she would be sentenced to prison and advised her to change her plea. Trial by jury was set for April 9. She testified that she had been advised that the only way to save her uncle, John Glasco, was to prevent his daughter's testifying against him, since she was the only eye-witness to the tragedy. The attorneys whose names have been mentioned in the case appeared before the court and were asked to make a statement. Both emphatically denied that they had ever had any correspondence with Mrs. Gordon and knew nothing of any lawyer who had communicated with her concerning the trial of Glasco. In court Mrs. Gordon insisted that she had been advised to kidnap the girl and attempted to describe the man, who, she said, was a lawyer. She also described the lawyer and the way he acted while directing her to the home from which she kidnapped the little girl. Mrs. Gordon was returned to jail to await trial next month.

BLEW UP BIG BRIDGE

Labor Troubles Said to Be Behind Work of Dynamiters.

Hammond, Ind., March 20.—A nitroglycerine explosion at Indiana Harbor destroyed the new Lake Shore bridge, above three other railroads, under erection by the Pittsburgh Construction company. One piece of steel, weighing forty-five tons, was blown 100 feet away. Immense steel girders were twisted and destroyed.

The construction company is employing non-union men on the job, and much trouble has resulted. Steel workers from South Chicago were seen in Indiana Harbor recently, and officials of the company declare these men were responsible for the explosion.

A train on the Lake Shore, west-bound, passed the bridge just before the explosion. Had the explosion occurred a minute sooner hundreds of persons might have lost their lives. The bridge is to cost $500,000.

STEVENSON HAD NO CASE

Stevenson's Contest Dismissed by Illinois Legislature.

Springfield, Ill., March 20.—The contest brought by Adlai E. Stevenson against Governor Charles S. Deneen was disposed of by the two Houses, sitting in joint session, adopting the report of the contest committee 120 to 64. The action was taken on strict party votes, the first in the session. The committee finds that the Stevenson petition is not a sufficient showing of a prima facie case which would warrant the opening of the ballot boxes for a recount in the vote cast for Governor.

Ends Life After Killing of Son.

Reno, Ill., March 20.—Charles File, a pioneer farmer, committed suicide at his home here. Worry over the killing of his son, Ruby aged nineteen is given at the cause. File's son was fatally shot several months ago when George and John Williford had come to see Ruby's brother to have him right a wrong against Williford's young sister. George Williford escaped and has never been captured. He is said to have fired the fatal shot.

Hangs Himself in His Cell.

Jeffersonville, Ind., March 20.—Shurle Fletcher, a reformatory inmate, committed suicide by hanging himself in his cell. He made a rope from the sheet. Fletcher was sent to the reformatory from Anderson in 1902 to serve a term for arson. He was paroled on Dec. 3, 1903, and was returned as a forger on Oct. 7, 1904.

Connecting Line Planned.

Champaign, Ill., March 20.—In order to connect the Illinois traction system with the Indiana line of interurbans, the officials of the McKinley syndicate have laid plans to construct a branch from Ridgely to Paris. At Paris the line would connect with an Indiana system.

Hanged to Telegraph Pole.

Elkins, W. Va., March 20.—Joseph Brown, said to have been an ex-convict, who shot and seriously wounded Chief of Police Scott White at Whitmer, near here, was taken from jail by a crowd of men and hanged to a telegraph pole.

CURRENT COMMENT

Inauguration as a Holiday.

For years there has been agitation in Washington and to some extent throughout the country for a change in the date of inauguration which would insure decent weather at the capital. The Washington Post declares that the only reason the date has not been changed from March 4 to April 30 is that no one would take the initiative. The New York Mail and Express observes that to move the date forward "would save in the long run many valuable lives and a good deal of bunting, millinery and shoe leather." Pennsylvania's governor put the case very bluntly when he declared, "There is no necessity for men to go down there and sacrifice their lives in the hostile March weather."

While the menace to life in a March inauguration has figured in the arguments heretofore for a change, this menace has not been emphasized. The whole country knows that Washington, which is the headquarters for agitation, wants a pageant for business reasons. While the recent experience was exceptional, about every inaugural day has claimed its toll as a result of weather exposure. Washington thinks nothing of four or five kinds of weather in twenty-four hours. This year the sun shone at noon where a blizzard had raged all the morning. It seems now that Washington is not alone in wanting an inauguration pageant and that a date in milder weather would be a boon to delegations from all over the country.

With 50,000,000 Austrians pitted against 2,500,000 Servians, it doesn't seem possible for the new Balkan crisis to give old earth much of a shock if the dogs of war are loosed.

It's with blizzards much the same as with the school game of "snap the whip"—even a weather sharp can't tell where the end is going to fetch up.

The hurrahing in Japan over Taft's inauguration suggests that, after all, the Japs have been half scared to death several times of late.

Uncle Sam is the biggest builder in the world, and he doesn't intend to be second best in style or quality if he knows it.

It's different when the constitution stands in the way of changing the date of inauguration.

The clan Hibernian stands pat for a March holiday and "never mind the weather."

Our Philippine Problem.

Our record in dealing with Cuba shows that it is idle to say that the stars and stripes must never be lowered. A flag should stand for a principle and not be a fetish. The flag was planted in the Philippines for a signal that the infamous Spanish sway in those islands must end. It may have been sad business for us, but to haul down the flag before the abolition of misrule there would be shameful business.

The apparent indifference of the American people as to Philippine affairs probably does not mean that they are tired and don't care either way. The flag is there, and the reason for putting it there originally still holds. Gradually the public has learned to consider the Philippines an American possession. But when the flag shall be hauled down because there is no longer an American burden to be borne in that quarter, no longer a mission to be sheltered under the American symbol, the stars and stripes can retire to the mainland with honor.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

Judging from the space which a certain class of periodicals devote to the exposition and discussion of various uplift problems, such as children in the public schools, public playgrounds for children, sanitation in the home and home surroundings, social betterment and social morals, woman suffragists have strong grounds for their argument that this is pre-eminently an age when women should acquire a firmer hold upon public affairs.

Harmful Prevalence of Governmental Paternalism In America.

By GEORGE B. McCLELLAN, Mayor of New York.

NE of the chief problems in municipal government is to draw the line where GOVERNMENT ACTIVITY MUST END and where PRIVATE EFFORT OUGHT TO BEGIN.

THERE IS A TENDENCY TO LET THE HEART RUN AWAY WITH THE HEAD IN THE DIRECTION OF GOVERNMENTAL PATERNALISM, SO MUCH SO THAT THE CITY HAS EMBARKED FROM TIME TO TIME UPON PROJECTS THAT HAVE BEEN VERY NEAR THE LINE OF PATERNALISM, AND YET MOST OF THESE MAY BE DEFENDED UPON THE GROUND OF THE ABSOLUTE NECESSITIES OF AN INDIVIDUALISTIC COMMUNITY.

We certainly, however, cannot afford to go any further in this direction, for to do so would make our government UNJUSTIFIABLY PATERNAL and, moreover, take from the taxpayers more that they should be forced to contribute. But if we are to do our full duty much still remains to be done that may be done by private effort.

NO PEOPLE ON EARTH ARE AS GENEROUS AS OURS IN GIVING THEIR MONEY, THEIR TIME AND THEIR ENERGY FOR THE GOOD OF THE COMMUNITY.

If such money, time and energy have been used rather to the prejudice than to the welfare of the people, it has been because of IGNORANCE AND MISDIRECTION rather than because of any sinister motive. Many people honestly believe that they are serving the common weal by the CAPTIOUS CRITICISM AND THE INDISCRIMINATE ABUSE of public officials. Nothing in this world is perfect. It is always EASY TO PICK FLAWS in the wisest programs of government and in the most honest of officials.

THE GAME OF OFFICIAL BAITING HAS BECOME ALMOST AS POPULAR IN NEW YORK AS IS THE NATIONAL GAME OF BASEBALL. The Penalty of Kindness.

The man who had about three times as much as he could carry felt in his pocket for a nickel. The conductor waited patiently while he extracted a package of cigarette papers, four matches, a little wad of string and a corkscrew.

"Noshing doin'," said the sozzled one and immediately lost interest in the matter.

"Come, get off," said the conductor. "Here; it's Jefferson avenue. I can't let you go any farther without paying."

Just then a fat man leaned over and gave the conductor a nickel. "Let him ride," he said, and the "con" rang up the fare and passed on.

When the car reached the end of the line the inebriated gentleman was still dozing.

"Why don't you get off?" roared the "con," shaking him. "Where do you want to go?"

The passenger opened one watery eye sleepily.

"Where do I go?" he exclaimed. "W'y, Jefferson avenue!"—St. Louis Republic.

Bigger Than the Sun.

A minute parallax of about one-sixtieth of a second of arc found for Arcturus by Dr. Elkin gave a most astounding result. This small parallax implies a distance from the earth equal to about 12,000,000 times the sun's distance. This vast distance would produce a diminution of light of about thirty-five and one-fourth magnitudes, so that the sun placed at the distance of Arcturus would be reduced to a star of only nine and three-fourths magnitude. It would not be visible with an opera glass. Arcturus is therefore in round numbers nine and one-half magnitudes, or over 6,000 times brighter than the sun would be at the same distance. Assuming the same density and brightness of surface as the sun, the diameter of Arcturus would therefore be about seventy-nine times the sun's diameter, or over 68,000,000 miles, and its mass about 500,000 times the mass of the sun—figures well calculated to "stagger the imagination."

Smart Tips For Men

Top coats made of unfinished worsteds are competing with those fashioned from chevots and tweeds for popular favor.

Scotch and Irish materials are being used to make the caps that are popular this season.

White plaited shirts made with cambrie bosoms are attracting considerable attention.

Pajamas in light weights and bright colors are being shown to smart dressers.

Neckwear for Easter in most attractive shades is being displayed.

Chamois, suede and mocha gloves will be the mode this spring.

Going to "Waist"

The Dressmakers' Protective Association has given the word and however much we have taken a full breath and rejoiced that the short waisted gowns didn't show how big we let our waist be, we have put our hands to the plow and there's no stopping.

Down go the waists and away goes our comfort. Corsets must be five inches longer—and they have been not quite but nearly as long to make sitting down a trouble before.

One popular next season's gown is to look like a French priest's robe and be adorned with five hundred buttons, while another will have one saving grace—a pocket—no not a genuine one like mother used to have but a swinging bag—and a big red and gold buckle.

JUST A WORD FOR CITY BEAUTIFUL

Springtime is Here, Gentle Annie,
And Our Thoughts Turn to Cleaning Up.

PRIDE SHOULD PROMPT WORK

Every City Should Have a Committee to Encourage and Direct the Work.

In the gladsome springtime the thoughts of the people turn lightly to the subject of cleaning up. The street, the front yard, the back yard and the alleys all come in for consideration. How to dispose of every cumbersome, unnecessary, unsightly or noisome object and tidy up for the long season of outdoor life and enjoyment—this is or should be the first thought of everyone. Perhaps in compassing this good work the plan adopted in some of the larger cities may be useful. The plan is to have a committee on physical betterment—in one city such a committee has been appointed by the real estate board—and let this committee act with other organizations and with municipal authorities in furthering the beauty of the city and the larger comforts of its citizens. Every city ought to have its committee on cleanliness and beauty acting without pay for the good of the public and working to make possible the largest comfort, health and enjoyment of the entire population.

Rushville is known far and wide as a city beautiful and a city of fine residences. Let's have another Cleaning Up Day and make it more general.

WILL RECEIVE BIDS.

SOCIETY NEWS

Greenfield Tribune: Paul Ogg gave a farewell party at his home on West North street Wednesday night for Weldon Brann, whose parents will move to Rushville soon. The young people report an enjoyable time with nice refreshments.

The Christian Endeavor Social at the First Presbyterian church last night was a very enjoyable occasion. The program rendered, music and recitations, were highly appreciated by all present. The light refreshments served, the candy and popcorn were well served and much enjoyed. All present entered into the games played with vivacity and all went home in good season, feeling that it was good to be there.

Mrs. Mary Lucas entertained about sixteen people last night and honored Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell, who were recently married, with a kitchen shower. They received many nice and useful articles. An enjoyable evening was spent by all.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

THE SOLE KISSEE.

(New Castle Courier.)

Squire Burr placed a new value on kisses this morning. Now they are worth $11 per, unless the kisser is invited to kiss the kissee by the kissee herself. A kisser who kisses a kissee against the kissee's wishes is guilty of assault and the court thinks that the kisser should be punished. The kisser in this case was Russell Riley, who boards on Broad street, and the kissee was Mrs. Ruby Woolum, who resides at 1519 South 17th street. When she was kissed some days ago it made her mad and she straightway filed an affidavit against the kisser charging assault and battery. To this charge the kisser entered a plea of guilty and the court said "$11 will be about enough from you," and meetin' was out.

SAID AWFUL THINGS!

(Greenfield Star.)

A Knightstown girl who recently visited the automobile show at Chicago, was here the other day and gushingly told her Greenfield friend of her experiences as follows:

"O, I had a perfectly beautiful time! Contrived there a little after noon and took a caddy to the hotel. We went to our rooms in a refrigerator and the rooms were illustrated with laughing gas and heated with legislatures. I was too incited to eat much, but I saw everything on expiration and when I started for home I felt well prepaid for time and money I had dispensed with."

GOOD RECORD IS MADE BY PASTOR

Rev. J. T. Leggett Has More Than Made Good as Shepherd of the Flock.

GOES TO CONFERENCE MONDAY

New Parsonage Has Been Erected During the Last Year of Pastorate.

Rev. J. T. Leggett, the popular pastor of the Second M. E. church of this city, will go to Indianapolis Monday to attend conference. He carries with him a report of the year's work and it speaks volumes for his parishioners. In the congregation are fifty members and last year, under the generalship of Rev. Leggett, in addition to meeting all the expenses of the church, the parsonage was remodeled and made into a beautiful and comfortable eight room house. Money was paid on the old debt of the church and funds sent away for missionary and various other church auxiliaries.

Rev. Leggett has made one of the best colored pastors that ever had charge of a local congregation. He is not only a gifted and holy man, but is also acquainted with the ways of the world and knows how to lead and play well the role of shepherd of the flock. Rev. Leggett has done much towards uplifting and assisting the younger colored generation here and it will be recalled that when a disturbance was threatened he was the first that counseled with the mayor and city officials and advised members of his race, averting what might have been a serious matter. He has won a warm place in the hearts of both the white and colored citizens of Rushville, who appreciate the good work he is doing here.

HAVE 48 ACCESSIONS.

Greenfield Tribune: The revival at Carthage closed Monday night with forty-eight accessions. Evangelist Carter has gone to Martinsville to rest up for a few days and Mr. Cole, the singer, is at his home in Rushville.

BIG CAVE IN ADIRONDACKS.

Explorer Penetrates It 1,000 Feet and Thinks It Rivals Mammoth Cave.

In one of the most secluded parts of the Adirondacks, on the summit of a mountain little frequented by sight-seers or sportsmen, Captain E. E. Thomas of Saranac Lake, N. Y., has discovered an opening to a great cavern. He went inside for about a thousand feet, and there seemed no end to the distance he could penetrate with proper equipment.

Captain Thomas, who is an old time woodsman, stumbled upon the mouth of the cave, which is on "W" mountain, several miles from Standish, some time ago, but kept the matter quiet until he should have a chance to investigate.

"I thought at the time that it seemed rather larger than the usual run of caves in the Adirondacks," he said the other day, "but I never dreamed of its being as large as it really is. The mouth is about fifty feet wide. The first room is fifty feet long, twenty feet wide and thirty feet high. It swarmed with bats, which lined the walls and seemed scarcely able to move. There was a decided smell of sulphur."

"In the next room, which was about 40 by 15 by 25 feet, we found passages branching in many directions and were unable to explore them all. With only the feeble rays of a lantern to guide us, we several times narrowly escaped falling into pits. You can imagine how deep some of these were when I say that we had time to count fifteen and twenty before rocks we dropped into them were heard to strike, and we didn't count rapidly."

"An elk's horn was found by us far inside the cave. After going a short distance from the mouth there was no vegetation. There is no opening at the base of the mountain. I think it will turn out to be a second Mammoth cave like that in Kentucky."

Captain Thomas, who is a hunter of considerable reputation, found frequent bear tracks in his recent exploration of the caves. Black cat and sable were common, while deer tracks were remarkable.

The men that heap the gold on our teeth are there with the goods when it comes to rolling the round wooden balls down the alleys and knocking over the long wooden things known as pins. They have struck a gait that is hard to beat and it looks as if they never would be headed. Their team is composed of good consistent bowlers who never fail to make a good average, while on the other hand the newspaper men who are now holding down the bottom ring on the ladder are very inconsistent. When one member of the five rolls a good score, the others all fall down and generally average about 100. The other teams all range in between the dentists and the newspaper men with a good average.

The merchants, physicians and postoffice rolled last Monday evening and the other three teams went to it last night. There was some good individual scores made, the best one being 219, rolled by Tom J. Geraghty of the newspaper team. The highest team score was made by the physicians, 861.

All the teams will bowl Monday night. The interest rolls higher when all the teams are present and a classy lot of games are in store for the next meeting.

AMUSEMENTS

Mr. Oscar O'Shea, who plays the title role in "The King of Tramps" which will be at the Grand theater March 24, is a comedian of wide reputation. He has been connected with Hoyt's, Schubert's and Frohman productions for many seasons, and is known as one of the best entertainers on the American stage. He has made a specialty of character work and in this particular part with his quaint sayings, singing and dancing has made the lit of his career. He is supported by a clever company of comedians. Seats are now on sale at Hargrove & Mullin's.

The bill at the theater last night, including the two subjects "The Wooden Leg" and "The Roue's Heart" and Stephens and Bordeaux in one act comedy, was excellent. The pictures will be shown tonight but the vaudeville artists will appear in a new act. Miss Iva Brown will sing "Somebody Misses You Every-day."

"Professor's Love Tonic" and "An Actor's Baby Carriage" are the titles of the subjects to be shown at the Vaudet tonight. Both pictures are comic, and never fail to bring a laugh. The talking picture "The Road to Ruin" will be shown. Miss Clara Gregg will sing "Moontime."

Try Mrs. Austin's Buckwheat flour. Makes dandy cakes with the genuine flavor. Ask your grocer.

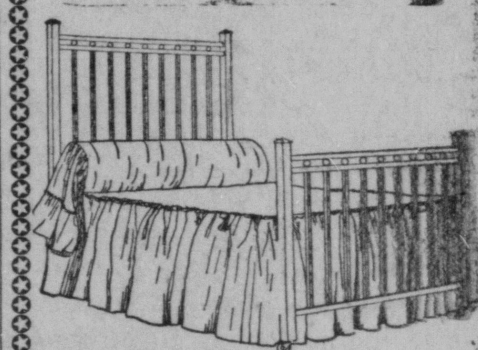

Polly Will Make Them Jump Through.

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale-people lack good, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need invigorating for, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach.

A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver active, makes rich red blood and overcomes and drives out disease-producing bacteria and cures a whole multitude of diseases.

Get rid of your Stomach Weakness and Liver Laziness by taking a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—the Great Stomach Restorative, Liver Invigorator and Blood Cleanser.

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

CHAPTER XVIII.

RUNNION FINDS THE SINGING PEOPLE.

"NO CREEK" LEE came into the trading post on the following morning and found Gale attending store as if nothing unusual had occurred.

"Say! What's this about you and Stark? I hear you had a horrible run in and that you split him up the back like a quail."

"We had a row," admitted the trader. "It's been a long time working out, and last night it came to a head."

"Lord—ee! And to think of Ben Stark bein' licked! Why, the whole camp's talkin' about it! They say he emptied two six shooters at you, but you kept a-comin', and when you did get to him you just carved your initials on him like he was a basswood tree. Say, John, he's a goner, sure."

"Do you mean he's—passing out?"

"Oh, no. I reckon he'll get well, from what I hear, though he won't let anybody come near him except old Doc. But he's lost a battle, and that ends him. Don't you savvy? Whenever a feller quits second best it breaks his hoodoo. Why, there's been men layin' for him these twenty years from here to the Rio Grande, and every feller he ever bested will hear of this and begin to grease his holster; then the first shave tail desperado that meets him will spit in his eye just to make a name for himself. No, sir! He's a spent shell. He's got to fight all his battles over again, and this time the other feller will open the ball. Oh, I've seen it happen before. You killed him last night, just as sure as if you'd hung up his hide to dry, and he knows it."

"I'm a peaceable man," said Gale on the defensive. "I had to do it."

"I know! I know! There was witnesses. This dressmaker at the fort seen it, so I hear."

The other acquiesced silently.

"Well, well! Ben Stark licked! I can't get over that. It must 'a' been somethin' powerful strong to make you do it, John." When the old man vouchsafed no more than a nod to a question the prospector inquired:

"Where's Poleon? I've got news for him from the creek."

"I don't know. Why?"

"His laymen have give up. They've crossed his ground, and the pay ain't there, so they've quit work for good."

"He drew a blank, eh?"

"Worse'n that—three of them. The creek is spotteder than a leopard. Runnion's men, for instance, are into a bigger than a house, while Poleon's people can't raise a color. I call it tough luck—yes, worse'n tough. It's hard bled and pickled. To them as has shall it be given and to them as hasn't shall be took even what they ain't got, as the poet says. Look at Necia! She'll be richer than a cream puff. Guess I'll step around and see her."

"She's gone," said the trader wearily, turning his haggard face from the prospector.

"Gone! Where?"

"Up river with Runnion. They got her away from me last night."

"Sufferin' snakes!" ejaculated Lee. "So that's why!" Then he added simply, "Let's go and get her, John."

The trader looked at him queerly. "Maybe I won't—on the first boat! I'm eating my heart out hour by hour waiting—waiting—waiting for some kind of a craft to come, and so is Burrell."

"What's he got to do with it?" said the one eyed miner jealously. "Can't you and me bring her back?"

"He'll marry her! God, won't there never be a boat?"

For the hundredth time that morning he went to the door of the post and strained his eyes downstream.

"Well, well! Them two gobs to be married," said Lee. "Stark licked, and Necia gobs to be married—all at once. I hate to see it, John. He ain't good enough. She could 'a' done a heap better. There's a lot of reg'lar men around here, and she could 'a' had her pick. Of course, always bein' broke like a dog myself, I ain't kept up my personal appearance like I ought, but I've got some new clothes now, and you wouldn't know me. I bought 'em off a tenderfoot with cold feet, but they're the goods, and you'd see a big improvement in me."

"He's a good man," said Gale, "better than you or me, and he's all torn up over this. I never saw a man act so. When he learned about it I thought he'd go mad. He's haunted the river bank ever since, raging about for some means of following her, and if I hadn't fairly held him he'd have set out single handed."

While they were talking Burrell came in, and "No Creek" saw that the night had affected the youth even more than it had Gale, or at least he showed the marks more plainly, for his face was drawn, his eyes were sunken as if from hunger, and his whole body seemed to have fallen away till his uniform hung upon him loose, unkempt and careless.

"I can't wait much longer," said Burrell and sank wearily into a seat. Almost the next instant he was on his feet again, saying to the trader, as he had said it a score of times already: "Runnion comes to me, Gale! You understand he's mine, don't you?"

The old man nodded. "Yes; you can take him."

"Well, who do I git?" asked Lee.

"You can't come along," the trader said. "We may have to follow the bound clean to the States. Think of your mine."

"To blazes with the mine!" exploded the shaggy prospector. "I reckon I'm kind of a daddy to your gal, and I'm goin' to be in at the finish."

Suddenly the lieutenant uttered a cry, and with a bound Gale was beside him.

"Look! Over the point! Down yonder! I saw smoke!"

The three stared at the distant forest fringe that masked the bend of the river until their eyes ached.

"You're tired, my boy," said Gale. "Wait."

He obeyed and finally over the trees saw a faint streamer of black.

"It is! It is!" cried the soldier. "I'm going for my war bag. And before the steamboat had hove into sight he was back with his scanty bundle of baggage, behaving like one daft, talking and laughing and running here and there. Lee watched him closely, then went behind the bar and poured out a stiff glass of whisky, which he made Burrell drink. To Gale he whispered a moment later:

"Keep your eye on him, John. He'll go mad at this rate."

They waited, it seemed interminably, until at last a white hull slowly rounded the point, then shaped a course across the current toward the other bank, where the water was less swift. As it came fully into sight Gale swore aloud in despair:

"It's the mission boat!"

"Well, what of that?" said Burrell. "We'll hire it—buy it—take it!"

"It's no use. She ain't got but three dog power to her engines," Lee explained. "She's a down river boat—has to run with the current to move."

"We can't use her," Gale gave in reluctantly. "She'd only lose time for us. We've got to wait for one of the A. C. boats."

"Wait!" cried Burrell. "We've done nothing but wait, wait, wait! Let's do something!"

"You go back yonder and set down," commanded Lee. "We'll have a boat before long."

The arrival of the tiny mission steamer was never of sufficient importance to draw a crowd to the river eyes glittered and flashed like an old crusader's.

"It was a wondrous combat," he declared, with all the spirit of a spectator, "for Poleon advanced bareheaded and beat him down even as the man fired into his face."

The Frenchman moved uneasily. "Waal, I don't know. He ain't fight so hard."

"You couldn't find no trace of him?" said Lee.

"No trace whatever," Father Barnum replied, "but he will surely reach some place of refuge where we can pick him up, for the days are still mild and the woods full of berries."

"I'll be on the lookout for him," said the lieutenant grimly.

When the voluble old priest had at last exhausted his narrative he requested of Burrell the privilege of a few words and drew him apart from the others. His face was warm with understanding.

"I had a long conversation with my little girl, for she is like a daughter to me, and I discovered the depth of her love for you. Do you love her as much as you should?"

"As much as I can. They don't make words or numbers big enough to tell you how dear she is to me."

"Then why delay? Tomorrow I leave again, and one never knows what a day may bring forth."

"But Stark?" the young man cried. "He's her father, you know. He's like a madman, and she's still under age."

"I know very little of law outside of the church," the father observed; "but, as I understand it, if she marries before he forbids her the law will hold him powerless. Now, he has never made himself known to her, he has never forbidden her anything, and, although my conclusion may not be correct, I believe it is, and you have a chance if you make haste. At your age, my boy, I never needed a spur."

"A spur? Good Lord! I'm from Kentucky!"

"Once she is yours before God your hold will be stronger in the eyes of men. If I am wrong and he takes her from you—well, may some other priest reward you two. I shant'."

"Don't worry," laughed Burrell, ablaze at the thought. "You're the only preacher who'll kiss my bride, for I'm a jealous man, and all the Starks and all the fathers in the world won't get her away from me. Do you think she'll do it?"

"A woman in love will do anything," Burrell seized the little man by the hand. "If I had known more law you needn't have given me this hint."

Together they went into the trader's house.

Back in the store there was silence after the priest and the soldier went out, which Gale broke at last:

"This forgiveness talk is all right, I suppose, but I want Runnion."

"We'll git him, too," growled Lee, at which Poleon uttered a curt exclamation:

"No!"

"Why not?" said the miner.

"Waal," the Canadian drawled slowly, then paused to light the cigarette he had rolled in a bit of wrapping paper. Inhaled the smoke deeply to the bottom of his lungs, held it there a moment and blew it out through mouth and nostrils before adding, "you'll just be wastin' time!"

Gale looked up from beneath his bush of brow and asked quietly:

To be Continued.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

B. JOHNSTON & CO.

Bryan's Jet Black Stove Polish.

Is the best stove polish on the market. This is not our own verdict, alone, but that of a constantly increasing number of users who really constitute the "court of last appeal" in the matter of the utility of any article. Bryan's Jet Black is easy to apply, shines with least polishing, gives a lasting jet black lustre which makes the stove a "thing of beauty." This polish is not only clean, smokeless, dustless and odorless, but it lengthens the life of any stove. Manufactured in both liquid and paste form. For sale wherever stove polishes are sold. 30412

Rheumatism promptly driven from the blood with Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy. Rub-on's never did cure Rheumatism. The blood must be reached—and Dr. Shoop's Remedy is made expressly for the blood. Test it and see! Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

"We can't use her," Gale gave in reluctantly. "She'd only lose time for us. We've got to wait for one of the A. C. boats."

"Wait!" cried Burrell. "We've done nothing but wait, wait, wait! Let's do something!"

"You go back yonder and set down," commanded Lee. "We'll have a boat before long."

The arrival of the tiny mission steamer was never of sufficient importance to draw a crowd to the river eyes glittered and flashed like an old crusader's.

"It was a wondrous combat," he declared, with all the spirit of a spectator, "for Poleon advanced bareheaded and beat him down even as the man fired into his face."

The Frenchman moved uneasily. "Waal, I don't know. He ain't fight so hard."

"You couldn't find no trace of him?" said Lee.

"No trace whatever," Father Barnum replied, "but he will surely reach some place of refuge where we can pick him up, for the days are still mild and the woods full of berries."

"I'll be on the lookout for him," said the lieutenant grimly.

When the voluble old priest had at last exhausted his narrative he requested of Burrell the privilege of a few words and drew him apart from the others. His face was warm with understanding.

"I had a long conversation with my little girl, for she is like a daughter to me, and I discovered the depth of her love for you. Do you love her as much as you should?"

"As much as I can. They don't make words or numbers big enough to tell you how dear she is to me."

"Then why delay? Tomorrow I leave again, and one never knows what a day may bring forth."

"But Stark?" the young man cried. "He's her father, you know. He's like a madman, and she's still under age."

"I know very little of law outside of the church," the father observed; "but, as I understand it, if she marries before he forbids her the law will hold him powerless. Now, he has never made himself known to her, he has never forbidden her anything, and, although my conclusion may not be correct, I believe it is, and you have a chance if you make haste. At your age, my boy, I never needed a spur."

"A spur? Good Lord! I'm from Kentucky!"

"Once she is yours before God your hold will be stronger in the eyes of men. If I am wrong and he takes her from you—well, may some other priest reward you two. I shant'."

"Don't worry," laughed Burrell, ablaze at the thought. "You're the only preacher who'll kiss my bride, for I'm a jealous man, and all the Starks and all the fathers in the world won't get her away from me. Do you think she'll do it?"

"A woman in love will do anything," Burrell seized the little man by the hand. "If I had known more law you needn't have given me this hint."

Together they went into the trader's house.

Back in the store there was silence after the priest and the soldier went out, which Gale broke at last:

"This forgiveness talk is all right, I suppose, but I want Runnion."

"We'll git him, too," growled Lee, at which Poleon uttered a curt exclamation:

"No!"

"Why not?" said the miner.

"Waal," the Canadian drawled slowly, then paused to light the cigarette he had rolled in a bit of wrapping paper. Inhaled the smoke deeply to the bottom of his lungs, held it there a moment and blew it out through mouth and nostrils before adding, "you'll just be wastin' time!"

Gale looked up from beneath his bush of brow and asked quietly:

To be Continued.

PARIS FACES A STATE OF SIEGE

Posts Strike Threatens the Food Supply

RECALLS TRYING DAYS OF '70

With Cessation of Postal Business, Funds Necessary to Carry on Provincial Trade Are Tied Up and Supplies of Country Produce Threaten to Cease—Situation Hourly Growing Worse and Not the Slightest Indication of a Break in the Deadlock.

Paris, March 23.—There is not the slightest indication today of a break in the deadlock between the government and its striking employees, nor is there any prospect of an improvement in the situation. The strike, however, is being made the subject of consideration in the chamber of deputies today, and a solution of the problem may soon be furnished.

The climax of the strike was reached last night when 5,000 repairers, linemen and mechanics decided to join the strikers. These were the last workmen employed by the post administration.

Despite the fact that the cabinet at its session last night passed a decree authorizing the dismissal of its late employees from the state service and reaffirmed its determination not to yield, the semi-official note giving the result of the meeting also announced that many merchants have offered to lend to the government their employees to insure the public service. This is indicative of the completeness of the tie-up and the extremity to which the government has been forced.

Remedy Worse Than Disease.

The note does not mention the sensational rumor that the government intends to call the reservists to the colors, thus gathering in practically all the male postal employees and forcing them to work as soldiers under penalty of mutiny. This rumor, although it gained much currency is discredited, as it is considered highly improbable that the government would go to such a length, the remedy being regarded as worse than the disease.

On the contrary the general opinion is held that Premier Clemenceau seeks only to save the principle for which he has contended and that if the chamber today endorses the attitude of the government, the premier will be ready for the resignation of M. Simyan, the under secretary of posts and telegraphs, and thus open the way for negotiations to bring the strike to a quick conclusion. The strikers have said that it was largely due to the attitude of M. Simyan that the decision to strike was taken, and they have refused up to the present to have any dealings with him on the questions at issue. M. Clemenceau's epemies, it is stated, wish to seize this opportunity to overthrow him, but the chances are that the premier will ride out the storm.

Public Service Paralyzed.

The last two American mails have not been delivered, and an evidence of the completeness of the mail blockade is shown by the fact that the Havas agency, which receives thousands of letters daily, did not find any at the postoffice today. With the failure of the carriers to deliver letters in Paris yesterday the chaos resulting from the extraordinary strike was complete. The entire public service is paralyzed and business, both public and private, is in a condition of inextricable confusion.

The situation in the capital and the provinces is growing worse with every hour. The undelivered letters number into the millions, and not less than 300,000 telegrams are stacked up awaiting distribution. Foreign incoming mails remain unsent and only a small proportion of the outgoing mails have been sent away.

The government's attempts to restore the operations of the various branches of its service thus far have been unavailing. The few hundred military telegraphers brought into Paris are practically helpless and useless, as they are not familiar with the recently installed Baudot instruments, and foreign telegrams are being sent to the frontier for re-transmission. Even the sale of postage stamps has been discontinued in the branch post-offices that are still open. The government has managed to keep several wires open with London and Berlin for the purpose of conducting important diplomatic negotiations now in progress. The few telephone wires that were working up to Wednesday night are now out of commission. They have been either unmanned or cut, it is impossible to ascertain which.

Paris in State of Siege.

A few days more of these conditions and Paris will be reduced almost to a state of siege so far as food supplies are concerned. The funds necessary for the smooth running of the provincial trade are hung up in the postoffice and the supply of eggs, milk, butter, meat and country produce threatens speedily to cease. Already numerous merchants have been obliged to send out agents to the provinces with ready cash to obtain supplies. The banks are withholding payment on checks in the absence of advices from their correspondents, and prices at the stores are soaring.

So far there has been no rioting. A large body of strikers gathered at the central telegraph station and threatened a breach of the peace
